

Announcing the New "DigitaReal Live Stage" at Tokyo Joypolis

CG Produced and Directed by Polygon Pictures

Opening July 14!

Polygon Pictures ("PPI," President and CEO: Shuzo Shiota, Head Office: Minato-ku, Tokyo) is proud to announce that our CG content will be showcased in the new DigitaReal Live Stage show at Tokyo Joypolis, one of the largest indoor theme parks in Japan. Direction, production, and R&D for this show is the product of a collaboration between PPI and Sega Corporation (President and COO: Naoya Tsurumi, Head Office: Shinagawa-ku, Tokyo), which also operates Joypolis.

In honor of its grand reopening, Sega has reinvented Tokyo Joypolis as a space where visitors can experience the fusion of the digital and the real. At the DigitaReal Live Stage, the ultimate embodiment of this concept, "real" actors interact with powerful "digital" images brought forth by Joypolis's original operating system (known as LOPIT) to create a new live show experience unlike anything else in the world.

From the initial planning phases to direction, CG production, and technical development, PPI has helped bring to life the many spectacular images that will unfold on this new stage.

Tokyo Joypolis will celebrate its grand re-opening on July 14, 2012.
